

The Call of the Wild

A Brief Thematic Experience (continued)

Now....After examining several real-life examples of the themes from the front side of this handout, think about what those themes mean to you. In the spaces below, put those themes in your own words and be ready to explain how you came up with your version of them.

Experience is the greatest teacher.

How would you express this idea in your own terms?

Explain what it really means.

Survivors are those who adapt to changing circumstances.

How would you express this idea in your own terms?

Explain what it really means.

The urge to survive is greater than the moral law of human civilization.

How would you express this idea in your own terms?

Explain what it really means.
